

Drew Morton MUSIC

Music for schools

Universal Harvest

Primary

Really upbeat reggae-style song to original lyrics, with an immensely catchy chorus. The staff room will be singing this under their breath for days!

Scored for upper voices, steel drums, electric bass and piano. Individual or various combinations of parts available both on midi and hard copy to suit your need.

Lyrics:

*When the cows come home there'll be milk in the pail,
When the chickens cluck, there'll be eggs for tea.
With the sun on the fruit, there'll be jam in the morning.
When the boats come to harbour there'll be fish for me.*

*My harvest is your harvest;
A universal feast for a hungry, thirsty world.
All sharing and all caring;
A table full of goodness for a hungry, thirsty world.*

*If I give in to greed then my friend has nothing,
If I give what s/he needs then we both eat well.
If we don't start to share we may be rich but lonely
Of our sorrows and joys there'll be no-one left to tell.*

Chorus

The image shows a musical score for the song 'The Universal Harvest' by Andrew E. Morton. The score is arranged for a band and includes parts for:

- Steel Drum
- Electric Bass
- Soprano
- Piano
- Other Steel Drums
- Male Soprano (M. Sp.)
- Male Alto (M. A.)
- Male Tenor (M. T.)
- Male Bass (M. B.)
- Female Soprano (F. Sp.)
- Female Alto (F. A.)
- Female Tenor (F. T.)
- Female Bass (F. B.)

The score is written in 4/4 time and features a reggae-style melody. The lyrics are written below the vocal parts.